SATURDAY, JUNE 1.

It is said that British nursemaids hush the babies by mentioning the name of DeWet.

Who said "1901?" That may awaken sleeping Ted, whose ferocious ambitions now apparently slumber with him.

It is sincerely to be hoped that Cuba will not give up in despair—although she might as well do so—for the present, at least.

Every democratic anti-imperialist speech made during the last campaign has been sustained and affirmed by the supreme court of the United States.

Gov. McSWENEY, of South Carolina, handled the resignations of Senators Tillman and McLaurin in the right way exactly. Briefly, he told them to behave themselves—and gave them time to think it over.

Tillman and McLaurin have until September 15 to change their minds and withdraw their senatorial resignations. Wise men sometimes change their minds. There are nine candidates in the state for the seats, should they be forfeited.

There is nothing like giving both sides of a question. The Kansas City Star relates how one Arkansas editor comes down hard for bad roads because his competitor clamors for good ones. Similar instances within 100 miles of Rock Island might be recited.

The Olympia is undergoing a great change at the Charlestown navy yard. Since the Spanish-American war it has been the policy of the navy department to do away with as much wood as possible in order to decrease the fire risk; and in the case of the Olympia the wood is to be replaced with iron. She will be a new ship from stem to stern.

The Bangor News remarks that "while the last five of the 10 commandments have been badly fractured in China, and while, by a singular fatality that has appeared in nearly all the great battles of recent years, the day that the fourth commandment declares shall be kept holy has been the scene of the sharpest battles, the commandment that touches most directly on the Chinese controversies is that which says 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.'"

"THERE IS NO CONSTITUTION." The Bloomington Pantagraph, a very earnest and faithful republican paper, edited with extreme care and not a little ability, is evidently out of patience with the kind of republicanism that is now rampant in its party. The following sarcastic paragraph is only one of several that have recently appeared in its columns equally expressive of its disgust with its political environments:

"We are told that the constitution does not follow the flag. As a matter of fact there is no constitution. There was one, but it is out of print. It was found to be two centuries in advance of the times in these days of swift retrogression, of wars of conquest and European feudalism."

MUST TAKE ANOTHER DOSE. The declaration on the part of the national administration to receive the Cuban acceptance of the terms laid down by this government under which the people of the island may receive their promised freedom is not at all surprising. The present government of the United States is not looking for an amicable agreement by reason of which Cuba may become independent. The Platt amendment was adopted as a means to an end. Having failed of its purpose to the great surprise of the powers that be, in Cuba's

DR. RICHTER'S World-renowned

"ANCHOR" PAIN EXPELLER.

One well-known person's letter out of many:

"My Danish Old People's Home Association, incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois, Chicago, July 22, 1899.

For Sprains, Lameness and Rheumatic Swellings, I have seen Dr. Richter's ANCHOR PAIN EXPELLER work marvellously and therefore highly recommend the same."

swallowing of the odious morsel, it became necessary to find some other method of staying off the performance of this nation's sacred duty. So it was decided to inform the island's convention that it had not taken the dose for its constitution just as it had been intended by those who compounded it. It was meant to say that the concoction had not had the disastrous effect that was anticipated. Hence the instructions to take it again, and make no wry mouths about it.

If Cuba rallies from the second ordeal under all the requirements of the prescription, the administration will be obliged to adopt some other way of provoking the long suffering islanders to rebellion.

AN ENGLISH VIEW OF TRUSTS.

In June Success Sir Henry M. Stanley, the famous explorer and politician, writes about American trusts. He says:

"Trusts are dangerous, and we do not yet know the limits of their perils. The present menace lies in the increase of prices. Should they crush out competitors and obtain a monopoly, they can fix their own prices and people must pay them. Competition means reasonable prices. Monopoly, if it means anything, means high prices. Personally I have a mistrust of trusts. They seem to me to favor so much of stock exchange manipulation and speculation that I have never been able to overcome my feeling against them. England, in common with America, shares the sentiment. In America, owing to the tariff, people already pay very high prices for nearly everything they require; and if trusts obtain monopolies and further increase prices, there is no saying how far the matter may go. At present the trust system is but little developed. It is applied to very few products. Its potentialities, however, are unbounded. The trust is the pebble thrown into the pool—the pebble which causes an ever-widening circle whose limit cannot be foreseen."

"A powerful combination of monopolies trusts behind the government would be a danger. The high intelligence of the men at their head would be powerless to shape their policy in certain circumstances. Suppose a trust having killed all competition and paying dividends of 10 per cent encounters circumstances which render it necessary to enhance prices in order to maintain that dividend. Subsequent recurrences of untoward circumstances might send prices up to an exorbitant figure."

Literary Notes.
Squirrel Hunting, Planting Land, locked Salmon and Steelhead Trout, The Camera Hunter, Bicycling, Bards of the Bushes, A Country Home of the Old Regime, Ten Inches From the Tape, Possum Hunting, The Sportsman's Viewpoint, by Casper Whitney, and numerous up-to-date departments complete June's well rounded number of Outing.

In almost every walk of life there have been great women. But there ever been a woman who has reached the very highest pinnacle in any field? In the June Cosmopolitan Ella Wheeler Wilcox answers this question in the negative and declares that even in the essentially feminine vocations of cooking, dressmaking and millinery men excel women. "Women," says Mrs. Wilcox, "have not the concentration which gives a clear perspective. They lack system and patience and are distracted by details or turned aside by vanity."

Read It in His Newspaper.
George Schaub, a well known citizen of New Lebanon, Ohio, is a constant reader of the Dayton Volkszeitung. He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for lame back he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, 'I feel as though born anew,' and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful, and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by all druggists.
